Attorneys for the world's largest and most prestigious business, scientific, and conservation organizations met in secret in the caves of the True Secret Order of False Albacorian Monks on Harkers Island, North Carolina, to reach an agreement on a megamerger of all the organizations. Participants agreeing to the merger include T.U., I.G.F.A., A.B.A., B.A.S.S., C.C.A., the A.M.A., and N.A.T.O.. The new consolidated organization will be known as the N.B.A., and will have its world headquarters on Harkers Island.

When news of this colossal merger leaked out, reaction was swift and positive:

Lefty Kreh issued a press release through his publicist Nick Lyons: "This merger represents all that is good and decent in the business and fishing world. It's the greatest thing that's happened to me since I discovered peanut butter and burned hamburgers."

At a hastily called news conference President Bill Clinton said, "Monic...illary and I were stunned and delighted by this news. It's the greatest thing for the American economy since Al Gore invented the Internet."

Bill Gates was moved by the merger to make his most generous contributions to date: "I am giving billions and billions to this organization. My entire fortune is available to the N.B.A.*"

The signing of this momentous agreement will take place on Saturday, November 4, 2000 at 6:30 p.m. at the 101st annual False Albacorian Conclave and Banquet.
