US CONGRESS BANNED FROM THE ATLANTIC

October 13, 2013-- In an unprecedented move, The True Secret Order of False Albacorian Monks voted unanimously to ban all current members of Congress--the US House and Senate--from fishing in the waters of the Atlantic Ocean (including bays, inlets, and beaches). The Monks also announced the immediate sequestration of all boats and fishing tackle owned by members of Congress. In announcing this permanent Congressional fishing ban, the Head Monk said that the waters of the Atlantic will now be "safer, cleaner, and more productive for generations to come."

House Speaker John Boehner was seen crying uncontrollably when told he would never be able to fish again. Rep. Nancy Pelosi screamed, "No...no, and I just mastered the double-haul!" Finally, when Senators Mitch McConnell and Harry Reid were informed that all senators had been permanently banned from any and all fishing activities in the Atlantic Ocean, both asked: "Which ocean is the Atlantic?"

Until recently, only members of the Supreme Court and a few historians knew that the United States Constitution was written and signed on Harkers Island, NOT in Philadelphia. In appreciation for the hospitality of the Monks in 1776, the Founding Fathers gave The True Secret Order of False Albacorian Monks "permanent control over all fisheries matters in the Atlantic Ocean."

Politicians have always been excluded from the Annual Banquet and Conclave of the Monks. Now, the scurviest of them are forever banned from fishing in the Atlantic Ocean. Come celebrate the ban, savour the the unpolluted Atlantic, and enjoy the finest fishing the world has to offer:
